Nordic Plastics Group Unveils New Identity as Nordic Polytech Group

Nordic Plastics Group, a major player in CNC-machining high-tech plastic components in Scandinavia, is excited to announce its rebranding as Nordic Polytech Group, effective 2024-04-10. The change reflects the company's new direction to reach markets outside the business field of polymers, such as plastic-metal alloys or even aluminum.

"This opens a completely new field for us. Using our skills to deliver even more advanced assembled products will make us an even more interesting partner to our OEM customers," says Patrick J. Kaufmann, CEO of Nordic Polytech Group.

The decision to rebrand as Nordic Polytech Group comes after years of demands from customers to expand our portfolio to non-plastic alloys and assembling. This new identity is a natural progression that aligns with our mission to be the customer's first natural choice as a supplier and a partner for the future, and our commitment to produce first-class components.

Customers, partners, and stakeholders can expect a supplier with continued dedication to service, innovative solutions, etc., from Nordic Polytech Group. All company operations, products, and service offerings will transition to the new name as the VAT number remains the same.
